Nexus Energy Center is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization dedicated to promoting a smart energy future for communities across Alabama through educational outreach as well as energy-efficiency programs & services for both homeowners and businesses. We created the Green Tie Bash to celebrate the individuals and companies that share this vision and work tirelessly to serve their communities.

Enjoy the night with us over dinner, drinks, a silent auction & a speech from our keynote speaker Todd May under the Saturn V rocket at the U.S. Space & Rocket Center.

MISSION: To build smart energy communities in Alabama through education, conservation, efficiency & renewable generation.

PROGRAMS & SERVICES

As a non-profit, we consider ourselves your local energy experts that strive to educate in a way that makes sense to homeowners. We are not going to make any recommendations for energy-efficient improvements that do not scientifically and financially make sense. Aside from our educational outreach at community events and with our Tiny Green Home, check out some of our programs & services:

Energy Audits: a scientific tool that identifies your home's unique energy usage - good AND bad - and the first step to a lower utility bill, reducing your energy consumption, and resolving comfort issues.

ALWISE Loan Financing: in partnership with Redstone Federal Credit union, our program provides homeowners with low-cost financing for energy improvements that will increase energy savings for 10 years for those that qualify - 24 month term at 1% interest rate with loans available from $2,500 - $15,000.

The Comfort Project: a targeted community-based effort to make homes more comfortable and less expensive to operate through the installation of energy efficiency measures. At NO cost to them, we help elderly, underserved, fixed-income, and disabled homeowners permanently lower utility costs, allowing them to use those savings on other necessities, such as food and medicine.
